Photography Credits: Special thanks go to two photographers for the use of pictures throughout this publication: Dick Raphael, who supplied most of the color photography and historical photos, and to Steve Lipofsky, who also provided various photos.

Cover Concept: David Zuccaro

MEDIA INFORMATION

As we enter the 1990-91 season, the 45th season of Boston Celtics basketball, the public relations department would like to maintain the professional working atmosphere with the media that has occurred in the past. Please read through the following guidelines for your benefit, and if you have any further questions, feel free to contact us at 617/523-6050.

CREDENTIALS: Individual single game passes and photo credentials can be secured by accredited media members only by contacting the Celtics public relations department at least 24 hours before a game. No relatives, friends, photographic assistants, etc. will be considered for credentials. No exceptions will be made. The publicity personnel will have final say in all matters.

PRESS GATE: The Celtics press gate is located on Beverly Street, just around the corner from the 150 Causeway Street building. The press gate opens two hours before game time and closes at the start of the game.

PRESS ROOM: The press room is located on the third floor of Boston Garden behind sections 46 and 47. The press room is open two hours before game time. We must limit the press room usage to members of the media and game officials only. Telephones, electrical outlets, statistics, running sheets, post-game quotes, etc. are provided. The press room manager is Bill McNamara.

MEDIA SEATING: There are two places to view a Celtics basketball game: courtside and in the upper press box. All seating is arranged before the game and any tampering with the press labels will result in forfeiture of any future credentials. The Celtics publicity personnel have final say in all seating arrangements. Robin Dawson assists the public relations staff as the upper press box attendant. The quarter play-by-play sheets and halftime box scores are distributed as quickly as possible to both locations. The Celtics also provide telephones for usage at courtside during the games.

LOCKER ROOMS: In accordance with NBA policy, both the Celtics and visitors locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before game time and 10 minutes after the game. Your cooperation and courtesy is asked in maintaining a proper working atmosphere for post-game interviews.

TRAVEL ARRANGEMENTS: All media members who wish to cover the Celtics on any road trip should notify the Celtics public relations staff by Friday of the preceeding week to ensure proper press credentials. For hotel arrangements, contact Carolyn Hughes at the Celtics office.

PARKING: There is no reserved parking for media for Celtics games in the Boston Garden; however, there is plenty of parking available in the immediate area of the Garden.

ADDITIONAL NEEDS: As always, the Celtics public relations office is available for your questions. Please contact us should you require further assistance. Thank you for your cooperation.

He also served on the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee for that corporation. Along with fellow Celtics' owner, Paul R. Dupee, he led a group of private investors in the purchase of Providence Capitol, Ltd. from Gulf & Western in July of 1982.

Currently, Mr. Gaston is a partner in Brookwood Investments, Ltd. Brookwood invests in businesses and real estate in the United States, Canada, England and France.

PAUL R. DUPEE, JR.
VICE-CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD AND SECRETARY

The Vice-Chairman of the Board and Secretary of the Boston Celtics is Paul R. Dupee, Jr., a native of Boston. Born in the Back Bay, Mr. Dupee holds the distinction of being the first Bostonian since Walter Brown to own the Celtics. Like many youngsters in the Boston area, Mr. Dupee attended the Celtics' games frequently as a boy, but now he returns home as an owner of the team.

Mr. Dupee received his education strictly in the New England area. He attended the New Hampton School in New Hampton, New Hampshire before attending Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island. Upon graduation from Brown with an AB in Economics in 1967, he moved to New York to assume a position with Chase Manhattan Bank. Later that year, he joined Gulf and Western Industries, Inc. where he served as Vice-President.

He was formerly President of, and a major shareholder in, Providence Capital Group, a substantial division of Gulf & Western, where he successfully participated with Don Gaston in a buy-out of the insurance, asset management and property development interests in North America, the United Kingdom, and France.

Mr. Dupee is now a permanent resident of London where he is an active private investor. He is also a Trustee of Brown University and thus continues to retain and strengthen his association with the University.

Mr. Dupee (5/11/43), and his wife Lizbeth Schiff, are the proud parents of Zachariah (15), and Alexander (5). While Mr. Dupee and his family continue to reside in London, England, they will continue to travel extensively and will maintain homes in East Hampton, NY and in Falmouth, MA.

For the first four years of its existence, the Boston Celtics were a struggling operation at best, losing six times in every ten outings. Team Owner Walter Brown decided it would take a unique person, one of ingenuity and determination to steer the fortunes of his team. The search concluded with Red Auerbach, previously the Head Coach of the Washington Capitols and Tri-Cities Hawks. Although the Celtics were competitive for the first six years of the Auerbach regime, the NBA championship still eluded the franchise.

On April 20, 1956 Auerbach engineered an historic transaction by trading Ed Macauley and Cliff Hagan to St. Louis for the Hawks first-round pick who would be Bill Russell. This blockbuster move would spur the Celtics into the most dominant franchise in pro basketball history. Auerbach, who is still the winningest coach in NBA annals, coached the Celtics to nine NBA championships, including eight in succession from 1959-1966. Upon retiring as the team's Head Coach, Auerbach concentrated singularly on his duties as General Manager.

With his guidance and knowledge, the Celtics would continue to win. In 1968 and 1969, the Celtics would add two more titles. But after a down period in the early 70's, Auerbach restructured the team adding key personnel through trades and the draft, and ultimately would raise banners in 1974 and 1976. It was after these years that Auerbach would have his toughest test, as the late 1970's were a dismal period for the Celtics. Yet, Auerbach once again saved the franchise with the shrewd selection of Larry Bird in the 1978 draft. Although he would have to wait a year before Bird could become a Celtic due to the latter's collegiate standing, Auerbach sensed that Bird was the man to rejuvenate the proud organization. Five other teams had a shot at Bird, but all passed.

In 1981, Boston would again be home to the NBA championship trophy but not before Auerbach orchestrated another blockbuster trade, as he dealt the first pick in the 1981 draft to Golden State for Robert Parish and the third overall pick who would be Kevin McHale. The master had struck yet again, as Boston added titles in 1984 and 1986 with the keen additions of Danny Ainge and Dennis Johnson.

Auerbach has been the recipient of numerous distinguished awards and honors throughout his career. In 1968, he was enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts for his coaching successes. When the NBA chose its Silver Anniversary Team honoring the best of the league's first 25 years, Red was chosen as coach of that distinguished team. In 1982, he was elected to the Washington Hall of Stars, a Hall of Fame which involved people from all sports. Red was also honored as NBA Coach of the Year in 1965 and NBA Executive of the Year in 1980. Also, in that year, he was selected to the NBA's 35th Anniversary Team as "Greatest Coach in the History of the NBA," by the PBWAA.

In 1985, The Red Auerbach Fund, the establishment of a fund in the great coach's name, was created to promote athletic, recreational and other youth development activities in Boston and throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. January 4, 1985 will always be a special day in Red's heart and in Boston sports history as the Celtics' family saluted its patriarch by having the number two retired in his honor (emblematic as the second most important person in the organization's annals, after founder Walter Brown). Nine months later, on September 20, 1985 (Red's 68th birthday), a life-size sculpture of Auerbach was unveiled and placed in Boston's notorious Faneuil Hall Marketplace so the public would have a lasting tribute to this basketball genius and legend.

He has received six honorary degrees from various institutions. Red values such honors so much that he kept a previous commitment to American International College by delivering their commencement speech although it required him to be a no-show in the Boston Garden for the deciding game in the Celtics-Hawks best-of-seven thriller on May 22, 1988. AIC presented Auerbach with a Doctor of Humanities Honorary Degree. A week earlier, on May 15, he received a Doctor of Arts Honorary Degree from Stonehill College. He has also received Honorary Doctorate Degrees in Humane Letters from Franklin Pierce College on May 24, 1981, the University of Massachusetts (Boston) in 1982, and from Boston University on May 13, 1984. In 1986, Central New England College honored him with an Honorary Doctorate Degree in Business Administration.

Red is the author of four books. His first, Basketball for the Player, the Fan and Coach, has been translated into seven languages and is the largest-selling basketball book in print. His second book, Winning the Hard Way, was co-authored with Paul Sann. Then came the first of two publications written in conjunction with Joe Fitzgerald. Red Auerbach: An Autobiography was the title of that book. The more recent publication is, Red Auerbach On and Off the Court. In 1987, an excellent instructional video entitled, Winning Basketball, became available to the public featuring the insight, thoughts and philosophy of Red and three-time NBA Most Valuable Player and Celtics captain Larry Bird.

Auerbach has frequently been recognized for his many accomplishments in the world of basketball. But just as deserved is his recognition as one of the great organizational leaders in corporate America.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Red attended Eastern District High School in that city, and attended Seth Low Junior College in New York and George Washington University in the District of Columbia. He played three years of college basketball at GW, and was the team's leading scorer and defensive specialist.

Red (9/20/17) and his wife Dorothy, live in Washington, D.C. The couple, married since 1941, are the proud parents of two daughters, Nancy, who is the deputy postmaster in the House of Representatives, and Randy, who is Vice-President of Creative Affairs for Mel Brooks' Films in Hollywood. Red and Dorothy have one granddaughter, Julie, who is a student at GW.

DAVE GAVITT

SENIOR EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENT

Contemplate a successful basketball program and the Boston Celtics are the unequivocal resolution. Then consider the same on an individual tier, and a resounding response is concurred in Dave Gavitt. Thus, when the NBA's premier corporation sought a new man to regulate the organization, Gavitt was the solitary choice.

Gavitt has the complete authority and responsibility with respect to all phases of the Celtics' basketball operation. "I am very pleased to become part of the Celtics' family. I'm grateful to the ownership of the Celtics for the opportunity, and pledge my best effort in return for their confidence," vowed Gavitt.

"I believe that we have landed one of the best basketball minds in the business," remarked Arnold Auerbach, on Gavitt's initial day as a Celtic. Comparable citations continued from every resource. From players, to front office types, to the Commissioner of the National Basketball Association, David Stern, who elucidated: "I've worked a lot with Dave, and I think he's got terrific basketball expertise. He's also a terrific person. He really cares about the game. Dave's been great for the game. I couldn't be happier for the Celtics, Dave, or the NBA."

The definitive New Englander, Gavitt is a native of Westerly, Rhode Island. He was raised in Peterborough, New Hampshire, and graduated from Peterborough High School in 1955. Four years later, he graduated from Dartmouth College, where he received a diploma in History, and three varsity basketball and baseball letters.

From there, Gavitt became the possessor of an impressive administrative resume. Commencing in 1960 at Worcester (Mass.) Academy as the Assistant Basketball Coach and Baseball Coach, Gavitt continued with stops at Providence College (1962-66) as Assistant Basketball Coach and Tennis Coach, and Dartmouth College as Assistant Basketball Coach (for half of 1966-67, Head Coach for the remainder of the same season through 1968-69, where he compiled an 18-33 record); then came the site where his prominence was strengthened, Providence College.

From 1969-79, as the Friar's sideline leader (he was also the school's Director of Athletics from 1971-82), his teams were a combined 227-117, including the 1972-73 squad which advanced Cinderella-like to the NCAA final four. He was voted New England Coach of the Year in 1968, 1971, 1972, 1973, and 1977. A splendid opportunity was bestowed to Gavitt when he was duly chosen Head Coach of the 1980 US Olympic basketball team.

But the most pivotal moment of his amateur career came as the Big East Conference Commissioner. As its originator, the Big East Conference went from a fledgling league in 1979, to a superior group of athletic institutions. Eight times, Big East schools represented the NCAA final four in Gavitt's tenure; those squads advanced to the championship title game six times, including victories in 1984 by Georgetown and 1985 by Villanova. Gavitt was responsible for a conference that evolved into one of the most prosperous and puissant during his direction. He negotiated television contracts peerlessly, evidenced by the continuous upward gross income throughout the league's existence.

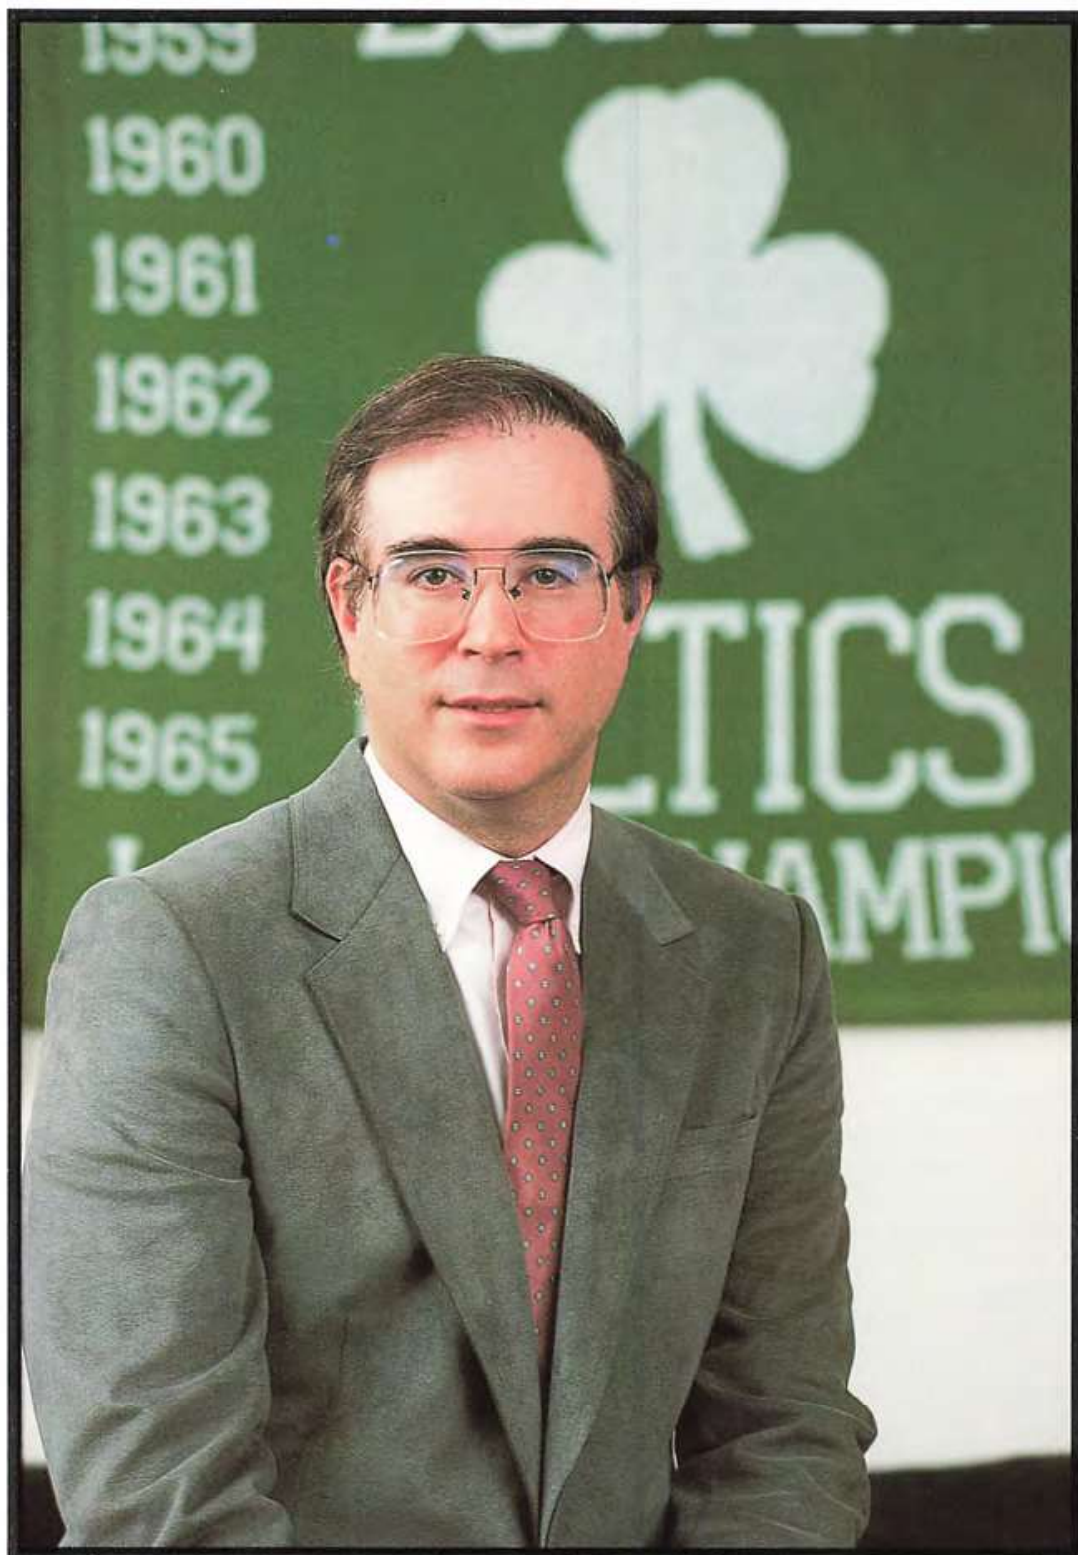

Not one to rest on his laurels, Gavitt's currently the President of USA Basketball (term ends in 1992, after the Olympics in Barcelona). He was a member of the NCAA Basketball Tournament Committee from 1978-84, a committee he chaired from 1981-84. He has been the recipient of honorary degrees from Franklin Pierce, Providence College, and St. John's University.

May 30, 1990 marked the dawning of a new era for the dynasty-laden Celtics, as Gavitt took the reins of the club's future. A man who exudes persona grata, Gavitt's marvelous reputation has no boundaries whether on the personal or professional level.

Dave (10/26/37), and his wife Julie, have two children, Dan (23, a 1988 Dartmouth graduate and member of the basketball staff at PC), and Corey (21, a 1989 graduate of the University of North Carolina). The couple resides in Rhode Island.

JAN VOLK

EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

The NBA salary cap is a unique system of checks and balances designed to manage the escalating costs of players' salaries in an attempt to limit the expenditures of operating a league franchise. With its infinite ordinances, the salary cap is an extremely intricate text.

Yet the Boston Celtics are fortunate to have a cognizant and energetic administrator in Jan Volk, a man who was described by NBA Commissioner David Stern as "knowledgeable in all phases of league operation, from the sale of tickets to the legal aspects. He's hard-working and a pleasure to deal with. He has the respect of everyone in the league. He knows the Collective Bargaining Agreement so well that he calls us to point out things that we haven't seen yet. In terms of an effective business administrator, you can't do better than Jan Volk."

As he enters his seventh season as the club's General Manager, and 20th with the organization, Volk's skills were never more evident than during the lengthy but keen maneuverings which produced the 1986 Celtics, arguably the greatest team of this era; without Volk's craftiness and commitment, that team would not have existed. He has made many transactions that have strengthened the Celtics, moves which led to confounding reactions from baffled rivals. Volk has been accountable for the acquisitions, contractual negotiations, renegotiations, and ultimate signings of all current Celtics' players.

A native of Davenport, Iowa, Volk grew up in Newton, Massachusetts and spent his summers as a youth working at his father's summer camp in Marshfield, where Red Auerbach held the Celtics' rookie camp for over twenty years. He attended Newton North High School, graduated from Colby College in 1968 and received his Law Degree from Columbia University in 1971. After taking the Massachusetts Bar Exam in June of 1971, he began his full-time employment with the Celtics.

Starting as Director of Ticket Sales, Volk gradually broadened his areas of responsibility and experience. He took over the team's equipment purchases and travel arrangements, before becoming Business Manager. Slowly, he began to convince Auerbach that his legal expertise could be utilized in the negotiating and drafting of player contracts. In 1974, Volk became the team's Legal Counsel and in 1976 he was named Vice-President of the club. In 1981, he assumed the additional responsibilities of Assistant General Manager. On July 11, 1984 Volk was officially appointed to his present capacity.

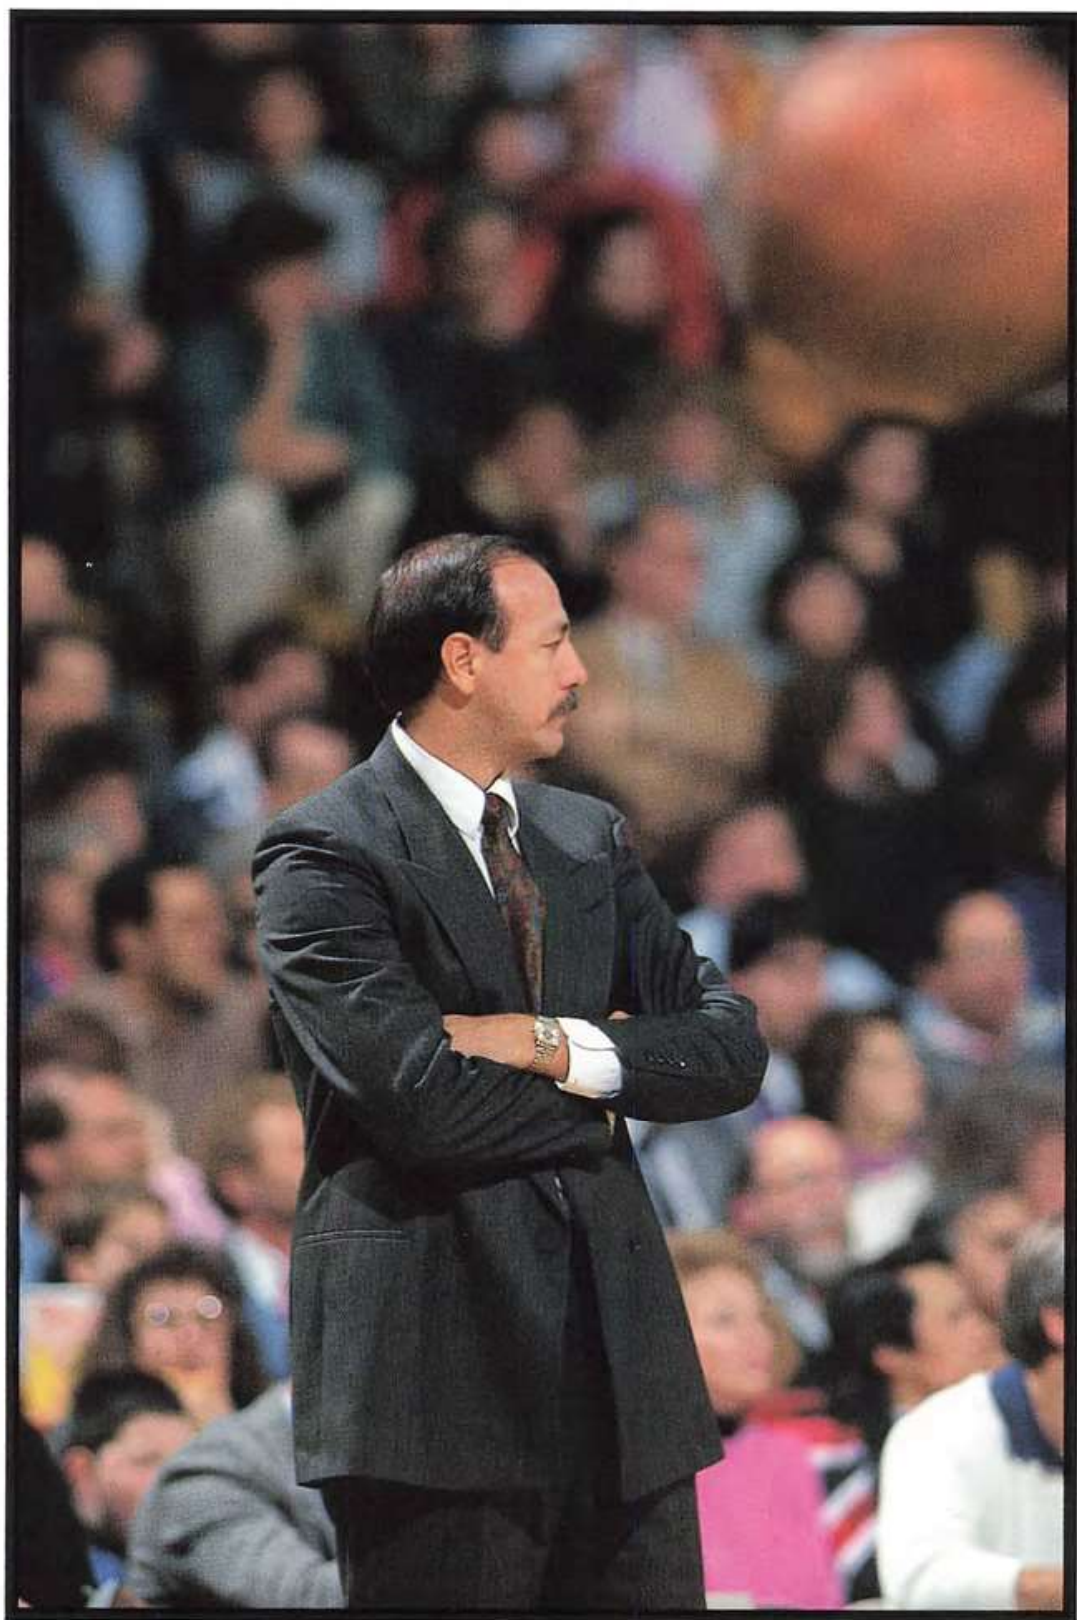

"He started at the bottom," Auerbach says of Volk. "That's what makes him more qualified. He's had a hand in everything around here, and he's paid his dues. He's grown up with the Celtics and has the same love for the team and the city of Boston that I have."

Jan, his wife Lissa, and their two children, Shari (14) and Matthew (9), live in Wayland, Massachusetts. Jan approaches his various hobbies, furniture-building, photography, organizing a touch-football league with the same intensity as his management of the Celtics.

CHRIS FORD

HEAD COACH

As a player, Chris Ford developed a reputation of intelligence, leadership, and spirited involvement in each game, characteristics descriptive of a future in basketball beyond one's playing days. On June 12, 1990, Ford's day in the limelight came as he was appointed the eleventh Head Coach of the Boston Celtics, and the sixth former Celtics' player to lead the team.

Drafted in the second-round (the 17th pick overall by Detroit in 1972), after a distinguished collegiate career at Villanova (he was elected to the Wildcats' Hall of Fame in 1988), Chris spent his first six years in the NBA with the Detroit Pistons. Ford was a valuable contributor for the Motor City squad. He will forever be noted in Pistons' history because his steal of an inbounds pass and eventual game-winning basket in Game 3 of the Pistons-Bucks mini-series on April 17, 1976. That was once considered the top play in the club's history.

In the early stages of his seventh season with the Pistons, Ford was dealt to Boston with a second-round draft pick (Tracy Jackson) for Earl Tatum on October 18, 1978. The Celtics and Ford would have an affiliation of continuous symmetry. He was voted the Most Valuable Player on the 1978-79 team. Then, in 1979, in what was the most impressive one season turnaround recorded by any NBA team, Ford's value to the Celtics became more evident. On October 12, 1979, as the Green Machine hosted the Houston Rockets in what is otherwise known as Larry Bird's first regular season game, Ford converted the NBA's initial three-point goal in the first year of the trifecta. He quietly developed a reputation as one of the league's best three-point bombers, finishing second that season to Seattle's Fred Brown. He eventually became Nate Archibald's back-court partner throughout the Celtics' successful 1981 championship drive, then called it a career after the 1981-82 season.

Christopher Joseph Ford played ten years in the NBA, appeared in 794 regular season games, and averaged 9.2 points. Number 42 was an excellent three-point shooter, making 37.5% (126-for-336) of his shots. He also saw action in 58 playoff encounters, and averaged 7.5 points.

When veteran broadcaster Johnny Most was sidelined with an illness during the 1982-83 season, Ford joined the WRKO radio team, adding his adroit commentary. He also did some volunteer coaching with the flourishing Boston College basketball program. After the BC season ended, Chris was offered a job at that school as an Assistant Coach to Gary Williams. However, Ford rejoined the Celtics on June 9, 1983 when K.C. Jones and Red Auerbach offered him a similar position on the professional level.

Ford eventually would engage in two world championships within his first three years on the bench. He joined an elite group of Celtics' personnel (Bill Russell, Tom Heinsohn, and Jones) who have earned championship rings as both a player and coach with the 16-time World Champions.

Chris (1/11/49), his wife Kathy, and their four children, Chris (6/25/75), Katie (4/12/78), Anthony (5/13/82), and Michael (12/6/84), live in Lynnfield, Massachusetts during the season. The family makes Margate, New Jersey their home during the summer months.

DON CASEY

ASSISTANT COACH

Don Casey joined the Boston Celtics on July 23, 1990 as an Assistant Coach to Head Coach Chris Ford.

Casey was the Head Coach at Temple University from 1973-74 through 1981-82, where he compiled an impressive record of 151-94 (.616). The Owls finished first or second in the East Coast Conference in his last seven years, and he posted 20 or more wins three times. He was twice voted East Coast Conference Coach of the Year, and he led Temple to one NCAA postseason tournament and three NIT berths.

In 1982-83, Casey joined the NBA ranks as an Assistant Coach to Paul Westhead (Chicago Bulls), then became an assistant to Jim Lynam (Los Angeles Clippers) the following campaign. In 1984-85, Casey was a head coach in the Italian Professional League, then returned to the NBA's Clippers as an assistant under Don Chaney and Gene Shue for the next three-plus seasons.

On January 19, 1989, Casey became the Clippers' Head Coach replacing Shue for the remainder of the 1988-89 season. Casey was subsequently signed for the 1989-90 season as the Clippers' top man on July 13, 1989, and continued in that capacity throughout the season. Casey's Clippers finished at 30-52, sixth place in the Pacific Division. The Clippers announced after the conclusion of the regular season that Casey's contract would not be renewed. He concluded his tenure as Clippers' Head Coach at 41-85.

Casey has developed a reputation in coaching against zone defenses, and has authored a book on the subject entitled, "Temple of Zones."

Casey was born in Collingwood, New Jersey, and attended high school at Catholic High in Camden, NJ. He graduated from Temple University in 1960 (did not play collegiate basketball).

Don (6/17/37), and his wife Dwyne, have three children, Lee Ann (22), Michael (20), and Sean (19). During the off-season, the couple maintains a home in California, while living in the Boston area during the season.

JON P. JENNINGS

ASSISTANT COACH

Jennings, a native of Richmond, Indiana, has an impressive resume of basketball experience. While attending Indiana University from 1981-85, Jennings served Head Coach Bob Knight in various roles during his sophomore and junior years.

In 1983, Jennings served as a summer intern with the Indiana Pacers. His duties included ticket sales, public relations, and assisting George Irvine, the club's Vice-President of Basketball Operations. Jennings acquired valuable knowledge in that latter capacity coordinating all college, CBA, and NBA scouting. At the age of 20, Jennings was hired by Irvine, who brought him to Los Angeles to assist in the coaching duties with the Pacers' summer league squad.

Upon Irvine's appointment to Indiana's head coaching position, Jennings began to scout and coordinate videos fulltime. Jennings had a bird's-eye view of Pacers' home games, and upon the completion of first-half action, would edit a two-minute tape used in the halftime discussion between players and coaches.

Jennings then joined the NBA Champion Boston Celtics in the summer of 1986, working as the club's initial Video Coordinator. When Jim Rodgers was chosen the leader of the Green, Jennings responsibilities increased as he scouted Boston's future opponents as well as college players. Jon also assumed the duties of keeping statistical charts, breaking down the opponents offensive and defensive patterns and formulating this information into game plans.

Jennings is an active participant in the Genesis Fund, a provider for the specialized care and treatment of children born with genetic diseases, birth defects, and mental retardation at the National Birth Defects Center.

Jon (10/2/62) is single, and lives in West Peabody, MA. A devotee of Winston Churchill, Jennings lists his interests as history, politics, reading and painting.

FORDDY ANDERSON

CHIEF SCOUT

For the third consecutive season, the Boston Celtics scouting department is headed by Chief Scout Forrest "Forddy" Anderson, a man who is entering his 13th season in the NBA. Commencing in 1978-79, Anderson spent eight years with the Golden State Warriors, before arriving in Boston as a Scout in 1986-87. After two years at that position, he was promoted to his current role. During his tenure with Golden State, there were more ex-Warriors in the NBA than any other league member.

Born in Gary, Indiana, Anderson served four years in the Navy from 1941-45. During that time, he coached for the first time with the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in 1943-44; his club finished with a 32-5 record, earning him the Chicago Writers Coach of the Year.

In 1946, he was a member of a unique Stanford University squad which placed all five of its starting players among the conference's uppermost unit. Anderson graduated from Stanford in 1946, then became Head Coach at Drake University from 1946-48. In 1948, he took the head coaching job at Bradley University in a stint that would prove more than successful. His teams advanced to five postseason tournament selections, including two NIT bids, and two NCAA final four appearances.

Michigan State was the next stop for Anderson, as he took over as Head Coach in 1954. During his command, the Spartans earned two Big-Ten titles and two NCAA Tourney selections, advancing to the final four once. Anderson departed Michigan State after the 1965 season, but in his collegiate career he coached three different teams into the final four.

From 1965-1971, Forddy was Head Coach and Athletic Director of Hiram Scott College. During the next season, he was the Head Coach of the National Team in Lima, Peru, before coaching a Swedish club team in 1974.

Forddy (3/17/19) presently resides in Oklahoma City. His wife's name is Constance Patricia Anderson. He has four children: Connie Swets, Barbara McDonald, Forrest "Frosty" Anderson, and Tracy Bookout. He is the proud grandfather of nine grandchildren.

ED LACERTE

PHYSICAL THERAPIST/TRAINER

To be successful, a sports franchise is virtually required to have its players healthy through the arduous regular season. The 1989-90 Boston Celtics accomplished this feat with minimal injuries compared to the NBA norm. The result was an improvement upon the previous season by ten wins, and much could be attributed to the splendid work of Physical Therapist/Trainer Ed Lacerte.

Lacerte is a Licensed Physical Therapist in addition to being a Certified and Licensed Trainer. A tireless performer, Lacerte's responsibilities are myriad. He was designated to the Celtics' position on August 31, 1987, as he became the sixth trainer in the team's history.

A native of Lowell, Massachusetts, Lacerte collected his undergraduate degree in Physical Therapy from Boston University in 1982, and his Master's Degree in Education in 1987 from the same academic institution.

Lacerte was Head Trainer for the Boston University hockey and football teams from 1982 through 1985. During the period of 1985 to 1987, he was employed in a physical therapy clinic, and was a trainer on the interscholastic level, before his selection by the Celtics. He is currently involved in a physical therapy/sports therapy practice in Nashua, New Hampshire. During the summer of 1990, Lacerte serviced the basketball squad of the US Olympic Festival, the country's largest amateur multi-sport event, held in Minnesota. His skills were used in two previous US Olympic Festivals, those held in North Carolina, and Oklahoma.

Lacerte is an associate of the American Physical Therapy Association, the National Athletic Trainers Association, the National Strength and Conditioning Association, and the American College of Sports Medicine. He is also the Treasurer of the National Basketball Trainer's Association (NBTA).

Ed (9/25/60), his wife Maureen, and their three children, Devin (2/21/86), Taylor (1/30/88) and Arianna (9/11/89), live in Westford, Massachusetts.

ARNOLD SCHELLER

TEAM PHYSICIAN

On September 25, 1987, the Boston Celtics announced the appointment of Arnold Scheller, M.D. as their Team Physician, responsible for the diagnosis and treatment of all injuries suffered by Celtics' players.

Just over one year into his Celtics' career, Scheller's abilities were utilized in the sensitive removal of bone spurs in both of Larry Bird's heels. When the 1989-90 season began, one could hardly blame Scheller for the extra-special interest in the progress of Bird. As the season continued, and Bird regained his athletic flow, the surgery became ever-more successful. The previous season, Scheller's skills were applied in another successful surgical endeavor when Kevin McHale needed right foot surgery.

A native of Warwick, Rhode Island, Scheller was All-State in football and wrestling. His undergraduate and graduate training was received at the Boston University School of Engineering, the Brown University Bio-Medical Department and the Rush Medical College in Chicago, Illinois. While at Boston University, Scheller was the starting middle guard and linebacker for the Terriers football team for four straight years.

Scheller received his residency and internship training at the Tufts University Orthopedic program. Since 1981, he has been a Clinical Assistant Professor of Orthopedic Surgery at Tufts University School of Medicine. He is an active staff Orthopedic Surgeon at New England Baptist Hospital in Boston, and maintains a private practice in Boston specializing in Sports Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery. He is also a member of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons and the American College of Sports Medicine.

A major in the US Army Medical Corp. who works actively in analyzing its sports training programs, Scheller and his associate, Dr. Roderick Turner, were co-authors of the book, Revision Total Hip Arthroplasty, in 1982. He also works in Engineering Design for Howmedica, Inc. and he designed the Precision Hip System, and Osteolock Hip System.

JOHNNY MOST

protege of Marty Glickman, announcing New York Knicks' basketball.

He also did pre- and post-game shows for the New York Yankees, in addition to broadcasting the football Giants, and baseball's Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Johnny's enthusiasm for the Celtics and the game of basketball is contagious, as Celtics' fans strongly identify with his partisan approach. He also was honored, along with the Lakers Chick Hearn, by being chosen to broadcast the 1988 NBA All-Star Game on ABC Radio to a nationwide audience.

Most and his wife Roberta, live in Framingham, Massachusetts. The couple married in April, 1989. He is the father of two boys and two girls.

GLENN ORDWAY

bestowed the Celtics' broadcasting team with a second place finish for play-by-play calling in 1989.

Glenn (1/6/51), his wife Christine, and their three children, Michael (10/2/82), Amanda (4/5/86), and Holly (9/17/90), live in Hanover, MA.

He has been part of the tradition since joining the Boston Celtics' organization for the 1953-54 season. When symbols are etched into the minds of the faithful in description of what Celtics' pride is about, the gravelly-voiced Johnny Most is near the top of the list.

Celtics' fans have sat by their radios and thrilled to some of the best action in the history of the sport as documented by Most. Calling the plays from his position "high above courtside" in the famed Boston Garden, Most will forever be remembered by "Havlicek stole the ball," a description of the final play of the April 15, 1965 contest between Philadelphia and Boston. 1990-91 is Most's 38th year with the Celtics, and his 40th with the NBA.

The transplanted New Yorker is a graduate of Brooklyn College, where he was inducted into their Hall of Fame on May 16, 1986 for his prowess on the football field and the basketball court as a star for that school. He began his broadcasting career as a

For the ninth consecutive full season, Glenn Ordway will serve as the color commentator of Boston Celtics' radio broadcasts. Ordway has also handled the play-by-play calling, as was the case for most of last season, when Johnny Most's health has rendered him inactive.

Ordway has an extensive past in sports broadcasting, having spent five years as the Sports Director and talk show host of WMEX/WITS in Boston. Additionally, Glenn was the color analyst of Boston Bruins' hockey for two seasons.

In 1981, Glenn joined the staff of WRKO-Radio, where he served as Sports Director and doubled as co-host of the popular "Sportscall" weeknight talk show. He also has been the distinguished winner of various broadcasting honors on both the local and national levels.

In the summer of 1987, as the Celtics switched their main radio outlet to WEEI (590 AM), Ordway became Executive Sports Director of the station. UPI

DOUG BROWN

The newest member of the Celtics' broadcasting team, Doug Brown stepped in to provide color commentary last season, working with Glenn Ordway on the Celtics' Radio Network.

Since first joining WEEI in 1987, Doug has handled a variety of responsibilities including hosting a weeknight sports talk-show and anchoring the station's coverage of the Boston Marathon. He can currently be heard anchoring morning-drive sportcasts.

Doug has an extensive background in both radio and television. Before coming to WEEI, he was the Sports Director at WNDS-TV 50 in Derry, NH. His play-by-play credits include Pawtucket Red Sox (AAA) and Nashua Pirates (AA) Baseball and Boston University Football and Basketball. He's also handled various play-by-play and hosting duties for the New England Sports Network (NESN).

The winner of several radio and TV sportscasting awards (including the 1990 Mass/Associated Press

"Best Radio Sportscast" and a New England Emmy Nomination for TV play-by-play), Doug is a 1978 graduate of Boston University.

Doug (3/8/57) is single and lives in Marblehead, MA.

BOB COUSY

One of the most famous moments in Boston Celtics' history came on March 17, 1963 when Bob Cousy played in his final regular season Celtics' game. On that day, as an emotional Cousy said farewell to the Boston faithful, one fan shouted the eternal "We love ya, Cooz."

For thirteen years, "the Houdini of the Hardwoods" was a dominant force in the sport. He was the leader of the Celtics' famous fast break, and during his tenure from 1950-1963 was a member of six World Champions. The recipient of many awards, Bob was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1970, named to the NBA 25th Anniversary Team in 1970, and the NBA 35th Anniversary Team in 1980. He was the NBA MVP in 1957, selected to the All-NBA First Team for ten straight years from 1952-1961 and the All-NBA Second Team in 1962 and 1963, and the All-Star Game MVP in 1954 and 1957. Bob led the NBA in assists eight times, from 1953-1960.

Cousy became the first Vice-President and trustee of the Hall thereafter, and later became the first Hall of Famer to serve as President in a May, 1989 announcement. He served as Commissioner of the American Soccer League from 1975-1980.

Robert Joseph Cousy, was born in New York, NY, and attended high school at Andrew Jackson in Queens, NY. He played four years of college ball at Holy Cross from 1946-1950, where he was a member of the 1947 champs, and a member of TSN's All-America Second Team. He was drafted by Tri-Cities in 1950, traded to Chicago for Gene Vance that same year, then became a Celtic when the Stags' franchise folded (for $8,500, name drawn out of a hat). The Celtics traded Cousy for Bill Dinwiddie on 11/18/69, when Cousy briefly returned to playing in the NBA.

Cousy was a head coach on both the collegiate (Boston College, 1966-1969) and professional (Royals-Kings franchise, 1969-1974) levels. He is currently a member of Team Nabisco, a sports marketing group.

Bob (8/9/28), and his wife Missy, live in Worcester, MA.

TOM HEINSOHN

Tom Heinsohn is a name that needs no introduction to followers of Boston Celtics' basketball. One of the game's all-time greats, Heinsohn played for the Celtics from 1956-1965, and was a key member of eight championship teams. He was the NBA's Rookie of the Year in 1957, was a member of the All-NBA Second Team in 1961, 1962, 1963, and 1964, represented the Celtics in six All-Star games, and averaged 18.6 ppg in 654 regular season contests. Heinsohn was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1985.

Four years after his retirement as a player, Tom rejoined the Celtics as its Head Coach. Like his playing career, Heinsohn's coaching tenure was punctuated by success, as he led the 1974 and 1976 squads to World Championship titles, and won Atlantic Division titles for five consecutive years. He was selected the league's Coach of the Year in 1973.

* Number retired in his honor.

† Name retired in his honor.

Of the 224 players to have worn a Celtic uniform during a regular-season or playoff game, each one's jersey number has been recorded here except the following (where research has failed):

In order of season:

Earl Shannon, 5 games, 1948-49
Ward Gibson, 2 games, 1949-50
Bob Houbregs, 2 games, 1954-55

Notes:

Sometimes the same number was worn by more than one player during a season.

Occasionally, for a variety of reasons including lost baggage, a player wore a different number for a game or two. No effort has been made to compile those exceptions.

AUTO PALACE The Automotive Super Store

You'll notice the difference as soon as you walk into an Auto Palace store. Space...10,000 square feet of it packed with over 12,000 items...featuring New England's largest selection of car care products; names you know and trust like Armorall, Purolator, Rally and Sunoco. All at rock bottom prices that will blow you away! We're no mom and pop shop, we're the future. Auto Palace...the automotive superstore.

You'll Love What We Do For You!

At Fox Toyota we make our customers feel special, whether they're buying a car or having it serviced.

There's a certain chemistry among the Fox Toyota team that keeps our customers coming back, which is why we sell more Toyota cars than any Rhode Island dealership. And that's exactly why we were named the Official Car Dealership of the Boston Celtics again this year.

Like the Celtics, Fox Toyota has a long tradition of excellence. New Englanders are proud that the Celtics are the single most winning franchise in professional sports with 16 World Championships. And all of us at Fox Toyota are equally proud of our performance over the years.

Fox Toyota won the prestigious Toyota President's Award for four consecutive years, which recognizes our performance by our customers. And the Fox Toyota team is the only dealership in the country that has won the Service Excellence Award for 12 consecutive years. It acknowledges our commitment to quality service.

When tradition, excellence and performance are important to you, visit Fox Toyota to buy or lease your next new car or truck.

BOSTON CELTICS

1990-1991 MEDIA GUIDE

You're on the money when you say Boston is the sports capital.

And you're in the money when you visit a Bank of Boston Automated Teller Machine (ATM). There's one in the main lobby of North Station and there's a cash dispenser in the Garden's west lobby.

Because we belong to three ATM networks, chances are you can use your bank card at our ATM to get money before or after the game.

Bank of Boston's ATM. Capitalize on it.
